

Design Courses

Visual Communications (Prerequisite)

A preparatory class emphasizing the training of core fundamentals and studio production techniques. Students should have a creative drive to draw for fun, strong homework/study skills, and time management for meeting deadlines.

Entertainment Design

This vocational course explores the process of creating concept art for film and game development. Typically offered at colleges and trade-schools, students will learn industry-grade production and illustration methods used to generate props, environments, creatures and characters with professional tools and software.

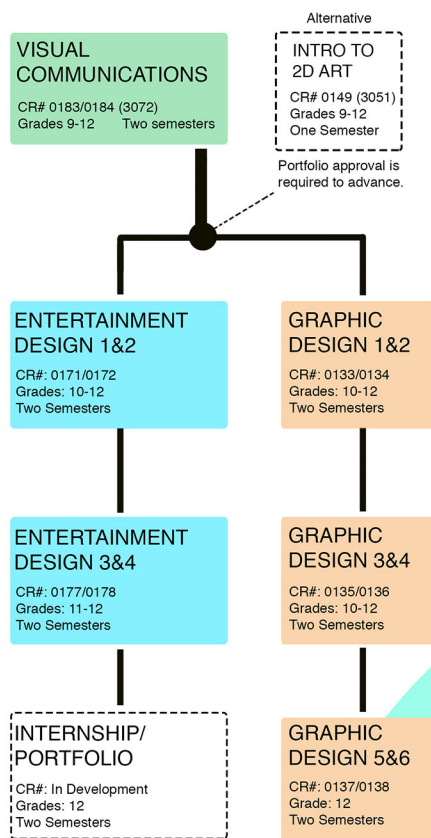

Graphic Design

This vocational course explores commercial art as thinking made visual. First-year students will apply the design process to create promotional materials, logo designs, currency, and graphics with professional-grade software. Second-year students and beyond will continue their learning while additionally generating products for real clients both in and outside of the district.

Aaron Verzatt

Course Tree

✉ averzatt@phm.k12.in.us

▶ "Aaron's Design Class"
Video instruction

www "Aaron's Design Class"
Tutorials
Assignments
Student showcase

Illustration and Design

Artists

Creative minds

Problem-solvers

College and Career-bound

